

REDS' ORGY OF HATE DEVASTATES RUSSIA

Petrograd Shrinks to Quarter Old Population—Famine Is Killing Thousands

By the Associated Press Stockholm, Dec. 6. Fugitives from Russia who have reached here say that living conditions in Petrograd are terrible. The famine there, they say, defies the imagination. Flour is selling at fifty rubles and butter and sugar for 150 rubles per kilogram (2.2 pounds). Herring is the only food obtainable and sell for five rubles each. (A ruble in peace time is worth fifty cents. Its exchange value here is 182 cents.)

All middle class elements are excluded from public eating houses and are dying of starvation by thousands. Hundreds are buried each day between six and nine o'clock in the morning, no funerals being permitted later during the day. Of a normal population of two millions only a half million persons are left in Petrograd. The city looks deserted.

Half of all the flats are occupied by Red Guards and their families. Hotels, restaurants, cafes and offices are closed. The houses of the middle classes are deserted, their furniture has been stolen and the windows have been smashed. Many widely-known persons have been shot, or have starved to death recently. Rumors of approaching famine have increased. Bolshevism has increased. Bolshevism has resulted in frenzied persecution of the middle-class elements. There is great nervousness in the neutral legations. The Polish legation has been looted, while the Swiss legation has been entered forcibly. The personnel of this legation has left Petrograd.

Must Punish Kaiser, Says Lloyd George

Must Pay to Limit "All the European Allies have accepted the principle that the Central Powers must pay the cost of the war up to the limit of their capacity. The Allies propose to appoint a committee of experts to examine the best method of exacting the indemnity."

In one passage of his program, that dealing with measures for an increase of British output, Mr. Lloyd George says: "There is one condition for the success of all efforts to increase the output of this country, namely, confidence. Bolshevism is the poison of production. Russia proves that, Russia will not begin the building up of a productive system until Bolshevism has worked itself out."

Pledges Justice to Labor "All classes must give confidence to those who have the brains—those who have the capital to those with hearts and hands to work. I say to labor: 'You shall have justice. You shall have fair treatment and a share of the amenities of life. Your children shall have equal opportunities with the children of the rich.' To capital I say: 'You shall not be plundered and persecuted. Do your duty by those who work for you and your future is free for all the enterprise or audacity you can give us.'"

But there must be equal justice, and labor must have happiness in its heart. We will tolerate no sweating, and labor must have its just reward. Mr. Lloyd George, in his statement, describes the extensive provisions the Government proposed for discharging its obligations to the sailors, the sailors—alike to the fallen, the crippled and others. He deals also with the housing and other problems connected with post-war reconstruction and the development of electrical power.

The British representatives at the Peace Conference will demand general and absolute abolition of conscription throughout Europe. Winston Spencer Churchill made this announcement in a speech at Dundee last night.

Geddes Demands Lives Sir Auckland Geddes, president of the local government board and minister of national service, in an address here, said the line of policy advocated by the coalition government was a peace which so far as the enemy Powers were concerned, should be based on justice and so far as those men who planned and started the war were concerned should be founded on justice of the nature meted out in the highest courts of the land. Such men as the former German Emperor, Prince Fasha and the former rulers of Bulgaria and Austria would be placed on trial and, if found guilty, their lives would be forfeit.

"Men guilty of unspeakable atrocities upon our prisoners and upon the civilian inhabitants of the invaded lands," he continued, "must stand trial, and if they are condemned must suffer death."

It had to be proved how far the commanders of submarines acted under orders, which they had to carry out under pain of death or how far they acted on their own volition, he pointed out; but if the atrocities at sea were committed on the volition of individual commanders, he declared, they, too, must suffer the extreme penalty.

"Today is the day of reckoning for our enemies," said the minister, "and they will have to pay to the uttermost farthing what it is possible to wring out of them."

List of Pro-Germans Is Bared By U. S.

That Hale is our agent, it knows him only as a Germanophile journalist, who has contributed leading articles to papers. Another message dated June 5, 1916, said: "Hale tells me and Hearst confers, that he is rather sure that on Wiegand's account, the World gets all the important Berlin interviews. I recommend that, under suitable circumstances, Hale should for obvious reasons be given preference, as Hearst organs have during the course of war always placed themselves outspokenly on our side."

Mr. Bielski produced letters Doctor Hale wrote to Doctor Albert, German propagandist, advising how notes written by Secretary B. van during the Lullin controversy should be answered. From Doctor (Guehr) diary notes were read telling of conferences between Doctor Hale and Von Bernstorff. Accompanying Doctor Hale was Louis D. Edwa, also sent by the Russian ambassador, according to Mr. Bielski, discovered Doctor Hale still in the pay of the German Government.

"Is there any evidence to show that Mr. Hearst knew Doctor Hale had a contract with the German Government?" asked Senator Overman. "No, on the contrary," the witness replied, "Ambassador Bernstorff's letters shows Hearst did not know," was the reply.

A prisoner named Wunnenberg, at Atlanta Penitentiary, convicted of espionage, according to Mr. Bielski, informed the Department of Justice that, in going to Germany, a special mission of Dr. Hale was to arrange, in transmitting American dispatches, to include messages for German officials in this country.

Mr. Bielski was interrupted to ask if the German agents in this country had ever succeeded in swerving any Government official and he answered: "No, it is a remarkable record. The Germans always thought that by getting some one 'inside' or high up they could do something. The record shows that American officials ever was seduced, if we except Congressman Buchanan, of Illinois, who got mixed up with Von Hinshel in the Labor Peace Council."

Beginning of Propaganda The beginning of the German propaganda, Bielski testified, was in 1914, when Dernburg and Albert formed an organization, with offices at 1123 Broadway, New York. Albert and Dernburg brought from Germany $150,000,000 in German securities, Bielski said, expecting them to find ready sale in this country. The market for them was not satisfactory, and only $5,000,000 worth were sold, that amount being used in propaganda.

In October, 1914, George Sylvester Veireck, editor of the Fatherland, wrote to Albert, suggesting that the Fatherland be retained after the war, but that the publicity bureau should also take steps to acquire an American newspaper, preferably the New York Sun or the Press. Later on, Mr. Bielski said, he would give the committee information about an attempt to purchase the Sun by Samuel Untermyer. Veireck suggested an arrangement with a New York paper, which would form an alliance with a German agency, similar to the New York Times arrangement with the London Times.

Offered Paper During War Mr. Bielski told the committee that in October, 1914, Bernstorff wrote a letter addressed to Albert and Dernburg, in which he said the Washington Post was offered to him for $2,000,000. This offer was made, he said, with the understanding that the Post owners would buy the paper back at the end of the war for $1,500,000.

Dr. Charles J. Hexamer, mentioned on the "Pro-German list" during the Senate's German propaganda inquiry today, in former president of the National German-American Alliance, which had offices at 419 Walnut street. Doctor Hexamer was the storm-center of much controversy before the United States entered the war, but he always maintained that he was loyal to the United States.

He resigned as president of the German-American Alliance, which later disbanded. Bielski said former Mayor McGuire, of Syracuse, received $14,000 from Albert for pamphlets and for the organization of his societies. He said six Jews worked among religious organizations and that Dernburg's notes on a meeting of the propaganda committee, a Catholic publication would not publish anti-German matter. A communication from Fuehr to the German Foreign Office, dated August 2, 1914, said the Post had been friendly to Germany up to that time, but recently had shown indications of "joining the other side." The charge was attributed to Fuehr to the Russian ambassador, and he said the policy had changed since the death of the late John R. McLean. In a letter to Bernstorff, Fuehr said:

PERU'S CABINET RESIGNS

Barreto Called to Form a New Ministry; Tudela May Come Here

Lima, Peru, Dec. 6.—The Peruvian Cabinet has resigned. Arasco Barreto has been asked to form a new Ministry. The cabinet, composed of Arasco Barreto, former Chancellor Tudela is expected to be appointed. Peruvian ambassador to the United States.

SAILOR HELD FOR ROBBERY

Norwegian Responsible for Several Hold-Ups, Police Believe

John Johnson, a Norwegian sailor, was held without bail for court today by the police. He is charged with several robberies on the streets of Philadelphia. The police believe he is responsible for several hold-ups recently near Front and Lombard streets. The specific charge against Johnson is that he beat and robbed John Adler, a musician worker, near Second and Lombard streets early this morning.

WHISTLES WAY TO FREEDOM

Professional Warbler Trills to Win Release by Magistrate

"Whistling His Way to Freedom" might be the title of a sketch by Carmen Mantale, a nineteen-year-old actor from Scranton. Mantale was arrested as a suspicious character in the West Philadelphia Station. He carried $500 (stage money) and a black cat. He was arrested before Magistrate Medcary in City Hall today and asked for his freedom, saying he was an expert whistler, and had come to his city to sign a vaudeville contract. His apparent sincerity, fur-lined overcoat and pats won the confidence of the magistrate, who asked for a demonstration. "Let's hear a mocking bird," Magistrate asked. "The resulting music charmed the judge," he agreed to free Mantale if he proved he had the contract.

BARUCH PRAISES PIEZ

Appreciation of "the masterly way" in which Charles Piez has performed his duties as vice president and general manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation was expressed by him today in a letter from Secretary M. Baruch, chairman of the United States war industries board, which soon will cease to exist.

DR. W. B. HALE DENIES HE WAS TEUTON AGENT

New York, Dec. 6.—William Bayard Hale today made the following statement over the telephone: "I have heard the report of Mr. Bielski's testimony only over the telephone and am not in a position to comment categorically upon what purports to be its contents. 'However, I will say that I never saw Count Bernstorff except for perhaps a minute and a half in May, 1916. I do not know him. I have repeatedly stated that I acted as adviser to the German Government in an open capacity in the press organization, we know through the United States, in the year 1914-1915, when I resigned. 'In the early summer of 1916 I was called by the New York American to go to Central Europe as its correspondent—as I judged, because of my acquaintance with affairs in Germany and Austria. After some hesitation, I consented to go. While in Central Europe I discharged the duties of a foreign correspondent to the best of my poor ability. 'The allegation that I was at the time under contract with anybody on earth, German, Turk or Hottentot, except with the New York American, is a piece of vivid imagination.'"
